Syarikat Kejuruteraan Letrik Sim Hoong Sdn. Bhd.

“We fully support this programme. We feel that UCSI University has provided a very good platform for the students to learn, study, engage themselves and experience the real working environment of this four-month internship. Our company provided training to enhance and equip them with the necessary knowledge and experience for their future.

Overall, they were good, independent, very hardworking and responsible during their internship with us.”

AFS-USA

“Elaine was a true asset to our department this summer. I believe this opportunity gives your alumni a chance to excise their leadership skills and develop transferable skills that serve them well into the future as they pursue professional goals.

Assisting in implementing our large-scale orientation events in particular develops several key skills, all of which Elaine excelled at: joining and becoming part of a team, creative problem-solving under very stressful situations, flexibility and adaptability, working efficiently with students from 13 countries, and customer service.

I have also seen the increased self-confidence of our intern after successfully welcoming 400 students, caring for them for three days, and then ensuring they safely reach their destinations across the US. The logistics can be formidable, but the skills gained will be useful for a lifetime.”

SNM Trading

“I have been very pleased with the work that Tiffany has done during her eight weeks of internship with SNM Trading. She has been as dedicated, committed and educated to the success of the company as what is expected from a trainee. She is friendly, prompt to respond, respectful of all colleagues and able to handle all the workloads given. She is confident and instils a sense of trust in others. I have no hesitation recommending Tiffany to the organisation to help them with basic accounting.

We particularly focus on Co-Op students because of their practical experience together with relevant classroom learning. This benefits both the student and the company.”

Expose.com.my

“Michelle has done a good job in handling the nutrition side of an event. The event needed a helpful person like her to manage the nutrition aspects and to deal with clients. She has good potential in preparing proposals and dealing with clients. I am very impressed that she is so capable at her young age.

What made me surprised and proud is her ability to manage the event coordination successfully. Her knowledge of nutrition is also very good; every point and detail is at her fingertips. She is a very smart individual.

Overall, I am satisfied with her internship at our company.”

“Su Myn did an excellent job in this position and was an asset to our organisation during her tenure here. She is extremely organised and is able to work independently and multitask to ensure that all projects are completed in a timely manner. She is extremely responsible in carrying out the tasks given to her.

On days when I am not on site, she is the trainee I know that I can rely on to make sure the tasks assigned to her run smoothly.

Su Myn would be an asset to any employer and I recommend her for any endeavour she chooses to pursue.”

SEL Telecommunication Sdn. Bhd.

“Lavindra has worked as a trainee engineer in our company. He has done 16 weeks of training with us. During the period, he has improved and learned many skills. He has been trained and assigned to work on Power Supply Boards for Microwave Radio Systems.

His duties involved testing and repairing and this led him to learn how to use many of our test equipment like power meters, huntron trackers, spectrum analysers and oscilloscopes, among others. He also learnt administrative procedures at the Repair Centre when accepting and delivering customer repair items.

He is very committed when given an assignment and always finishes them with excellent results. His discipline and attitude are also commendable. He has proven himself as a remarkable trainee and can easily fit into any organisation after completion of his studies.”

Freescle Semiconductor (M) Sdn. Bhd.

“Chong Hau Hua was engaged as an industrial intern for four months at Freescle Semiconductor. I found him to be a very bright and motivated student who is also independent and very resourceful in completing the FMCS project. The result of the project will continue to be used in Freescle as his assistance throughout the project cycle in compiling the data points and commissioning the FMCS software proved to be very useful.

Given the opportunity, he will be a good engineer. We would recommend him to be hired if we have a job vacancy.”

American Air Filter Manufacturing Sdn. Bhd.

“In today’s tough economic times, every company is interested in how to stay competitive in the market and how to keep on adding value and quality for customers. A key strategy to achieve this is obtaining a strong workforce with creativity and problem-solving ability.

It’s great to have Sin Kai from UCSI University, who demonstrated a strong sense of innovation and problem-solving ability during his internship. He was able to propose all kinds of unique and creative ideas that required thinking out of the box during our brainstorming session. Such ideas helped to improve the operations process and lighten the workload of operators. In addition, he was capable of working independently and was able to fulfil any task he was assigned to without much supervision.

In a nutshell, Sin Kai has met our expectation during his internship and we are looking forward to working with him again for his second internship.”

TSE BUAN FAI

“Ali did his internship with us for four months. He provided technical support of various levels of complexity for the office staff. The office has about 130 local staff, 10 international staff and about 10-20 interns. Ali has shown dedication in his field of work and can interact well with the other colleagues. He has helped us with the organising of our Regional ICT Workshop in December. He has shown enthusiasm in assisting with the configuration of wireless equipment and other IT equipment.

He is full of energy and dedication and I have no problem in recommending him for any IT or engineering-related task in the future.”

ATD Solutions Sdn. Bhd.

“Understand your own interests and try to serve your Co-Op in the fields that you are interested with us. Serving your internship helps you to learn or gain some experience during your studies so that you can apply that into your future career.

Choosing a placement that suits your interests is very important. You’ll be able to learn some extra skills or knowledge during your internship (if the field is related to what you are interested in) or else you’ll waste the two to four months of your internship learning nothing in the company.”

DR HENG WYE JYE

CryoCord Sdn. Bhd.

“We at CryoCord personally believe that the Co-Op programme is very good and provides students with a launch pad to enter the working environment. UCSI University has taken a good step to join forces with various companies to create a win-win strategy for students, employers and the university alike. This will give students a better assessment of the real work environment, while we employers are able to assess their fit to the company prior to recruiting them in future.

The students were put through a challenging time during their internship. However, all these challenges made them stronger and better prepared for their future working roles after graduation. We want to thank UCSI University and the students who have contributed their efforts to growing CryoCord Sdn. Bhd.

National Kidney Foundation of Malaysia

“NKF first participated in the Co–Op programme in end 2008 with the engagement of one Year 4 intern from the Food Science & Nutrition faculty. In view of the positive contribution from this student, we decided to continue to participate in this programme by engaging nine students in 2009 and subsequently two students in April 2010. During the two to four months of internship, the students will gain exposure and hands-on experience of the public education outreach programme of NKF, health exhibitions, data entry and telephone audit of participants who were detected with abnormalities through the NKF LifeCheck Mobile Health Screening.

In the beginning of the internship, the students will undergo a one day induction course. The students will be coached further on the job until they can handle the tasks confidently and competently. The students also have the opportunity to improve their interpersonal skills and communication skills when they interact with NKF staff and members of the public. We trust that the interns do enjoy their internship at NKF and we believe the experience gained from the internship at NKF will be beneficial to their future endeavours.

This collaboration with UCSI University is indeed a win-win partnership. As a non-profit charitable organisation, we hope that such collaborations can be continued to benefit both parties as well as members of the public at large.
