

U MAGAZINE: ISSUE NO. 3

In this issue, we walk you through the 20 years of UCSI's progress from the day it began as a humble institute in SS2 in Petaling Jaya, until today, with its full-fledged campus at UCSI Heights in Cheras, and a purpose-built branch campus in Terengganu that will be completed by May next year.

We also showcase some of our outstanding achievers, who have achieved flying colours in their academic and extra-curricular pursuits. They carry with them the mark of an institution that has excelled in providing quality education to both local and international students.

In an institution where the three major races study and grow together, we see fit to put together an article delving into the ethnic relations in the country. UCSI has become a place with which our students are proud to be affiliated.

All of us at the Corporate Communications Department wish every one of you – Happy reading!
